RP to buy 1.5M tons of rice from Vietnam

By Amy R. Remo

TO ADDRESS ITS RICE SHORTFALL, the Philippines yesterday signed an agreement with Vietnam in Clark, Pampanga, allowing the former to import up to 1.5 million metric tons of Vietnamese white rice.

But the Philippines may not get the full volume because of tight supply in Vietnam.

Su Xuan Truong, Vietnam's ambassador to the Philippines, said Hanoi

'Neri talked of bribery'

Dissenting justices also stress ex-Neda chief reported crime to GMA

By Leila B. Salaverria

JUSTICE ANTONIO CARPIO HAS INSISTED THAT former Socioeconomic Planning Secretary Romulo Neri had discussed a bribery scandal with President Macapagal-Arroyo and could not properly invoke executive privilege to cover up the alleged crime.

Carpio was one of six justices who disagreed with the majority in the 15-member Supreme Court that upheld on Tuesday Neri's claim he could not be questioned on his conversations with Ms Arroyo in the Senate inquiry into the scrapped $329-million National Broadband Network (NBN) project with China's ZTE Corp.

Nine justices said Neri may rightly remain silent on three follow-up questions by Senate probers after he told Ms Arroyo that former Elections Chair Benjamin Abalos had allegedly offered him a P200-million bribe to endorse the NBN project to hook up government offices nationwide via the Internet. The questions were:

1. Whether the President followed up on the NBN deal.

2. Whether Neri was dictated to prioritize the project.

3. Whether Ms Arroyo gave the go-ahead to Neri to approve the deal in spite of the alleged bribery.

"The invocation of executive privilege on the three questions dwelling on a bribery scandal is clearly unjustified and void.

Senate suspends NBN-ZTE hearings

By Gil C. Cabacungan Jr.

THE SENATE HAS INDEFINITELY put on hold its 20th hearing on the $329-million National Broadband Network (NBN) deal which would have alleged "Greedy Group plus plus" bagman Ruben Reyes as the main witness.

Sen. Alan Peter Cayetano, chair of the blue ribbon committee, said the joint inquiry had decided to suspend any hearing until the Senate has come to grips with the ramifications of the Supreme Court decision Tuesday on the NBN deal with China's ZTE Corp.

The court upheld the refusal of former Socioeconomic Planning Secretary Romulo Neri to answer questions on grounds of

GMA happily tells 'real story for 2008'

By Michael Lim Ubac in Manila and Tonette Orejas in Pampanga

A DAY AFTER THE SUPREME COURT upheld her power to invoke executive privilege, President Macapagal-Arroyo declared that she was "bullish on our economy, optimistic about our future and committed to being a force for good for our nation."

In a speech delivered at the opening session of the Philippine Development Forum in Clark, Pampanga, which was broadcast live by the state-run NBN-4, the President reiterated that she would step down at the end of her term in 2010.

This is the "real story for 2008," she said, adding that the "tough choices" she had made—boosting revenues through tax reforms and modernizing the banking and financial sectors—had paid off.

"It has been a very good year for the Philippine economy, not in over 20 years, but in over 30 years. As we all know, our economy grew by 7.3 percent," she said.

She said her administration was on track to "modernize" the country, and aired the assurance that the benefits of a robust economy would trickle down to the poor.

"The best thing we can do for the remainder of my term until I step down in 2010 is to stay focused on further economic reforms while providing peace, order and stability. Our last two years will be dedicated to one main objective: invest, invest and invest some more in the nation," she told foreign investors, members of her Cabinet and other government officials.

Researchers at the New England Historic Genealogical Society have found some remarkable family connections for the three presidential candidates—Democratic rivals Obama and Clinton, and Republican John McCain.

No finding yet on Bali bomber

By Alcuin Papa and Nikko Dizon

THE PHILIPPINE MILITARY SAID yesterday it was still waiting for the results of a DNA test to see if a body it recovered in Tawi-Tawi last February was really that of Indonesian militant and wanted Bali bomber Dulmatin.

Armed Forces chief of staff Hermogenes Esperon declined to comment on a report in the Jakarta Post on Monday that quoted Indonesian National Police deputy spokesman, Brig. Gen. Sisno Hadi, as saying their tests returned to the Philippines and "we affirm that the exhumed body was not that of Dulmatin."

Esperon said he has yet to receive a report from the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), which is conducting DNA tests on the recovered body.

Philippine National Police chief Dir. Gen. Avelino Razon, told reporters that the PNP does not have the appropriate machine to conduct the DNA test so it was relying on the US-FBI tests. As far as he knew, the Indonesians also did not conduct DNA tests.

The PNP has a nuclear DNA machine but it is a low grade model and could not extract a sample and profile from the highly decomposed body, said Chief Supt. Arturo Cacdac, head of the PNP Crime Laboratory. The US, he said, had more advanced equipment.

The US had put a $10 million price on Dulmatin's head and funded a big Philippine military offensive in Sulu last year to capture him and another Indonesian terrorist, Umar Patek, believed to be hiding out with the local extremist group Abu Sayyaf. Both are suspected members of the regional terror network Jemaah Islamiyah which was behind the 2002 Bali bombing that killed some 202 people.

Earlier, the Anti Terrorism Council said it could not confirm or deny the Jakarta Post report.

"We are not denying or confirming that. As far as the Anti Terrorism Council is concerned, there are still no official results. We will just have to wait," Ricardo Blancaflor, spokesman of the ATC, told the Inquirer yesterday.

He said the Philippine National Police (PNP) informed him it could take another week before results are known.

Earth Hour: Lights off for Canon

CANON MARKETING (PHILIPPINES) said yesterday it will turn off its neon signage along South Super Highway and all the lights at its Makati headquarters and branch offices for one hour on Saturday in support of Earth Hour 2008.

Earth Hour, a global climate change initiative, is a project of the World Wide Fund (WWF), which calls on individuals and businesses around the world to switch off their lights for one hour (from 8 to 9 p.m.) on Saturday. WWF said it hopes that with Earth Hour, people all over the world will realize that the collective action of individuals can help change the planet for the better, stressing the strong connection between energy usage and climate change.

Earth Hour debuted last year when two million residents of Sydney, Australia, hit their light switch as well as one city plunged themselves in quiet darkness to support the movement. This year, it has grown to be a global campaign, with 24 other major cities across the world lighting out.

Manila Archbishop Gaudencio Cardinal Rosales, in his Easter Sunday message, urged all Filipinos to participate in the Earth Hour action. The Philippine Daily Inquirer is also a supporter of the project.

"We want the rest of the world to know that our little action, even all the way here at Canon Philippines, will add up to something significant in the fight against global warming. This is just one of the ways Canon is striving to become a more environment-friendly company," Canon president and chief executive Ramon G. Arch..., said in a press statement.

"This will be one instance when a nation resulted in darkness is a nation united," the Canon statement said.

ORLANDO—THE NBA CHAMPION San Antonio Spurs are getting things together at the right time as they prepare to defend their title.

The Spurs won their fourth straight game on Tuesday evening, a 107-97 road victory over the short-handed Orlando Magic.

"We are just slow and steady," San Antonio's Tim Duncan told reporters after contributing 23 points and 13 rebounds.

"We are trying to get to the point we are playing 48 minutes.

"We are headed in the right direction. It's coming down to crunch time here and we are healthy and have been for a little while. That is a big part of it."

The win moved the Spurs to within one game of the best record in the Western Conference race, where five teams are separated by one and a half games as the regular season heads down the stretch.
